Section 7 (Continued): Duty of Disclosure and Privacy

Privacy

The Privacy Act 1988 (as amended) and the Australian Privacy Principals regulate the way business can collect, handle, use, keep secure and disclose personal information. Both Insurance and the Insurers are bound by the Privacy Act 1988, when collecting and handling your personal information. Ensurance and the Insurers have developed their own respective Privacy Policies which explain what sort of personal information is held about you and how it will be collected, handled, used and disclosed.

Both Ensurance and the Insurers (in assessment of any application, at the beginning and during the term of insurance) collect personal information from or about you for the purpose of assessing your application and administering your insurance, including any claims made.

Ensurance, the insurers and our agents and contractors may collect and hold personal information through this application in respect of any individual or entity whose identity is apparent from information provided in this application or in information supplied with the application, or that is publicly available for the purposes of assessing this application and administering any insurance policy issued or activities related to administration of the application or policy from State or Territory Government bodies, your intermediary, insurance agents, loss assessors, claims investigators, reinsurers, insurance companies, claims reference sources, trade credit reference sources, credit reference sources, financial assessors, other service providers, legal and other professional advisors or any other third-party with relevant information.

Both Ensurance and the Insurers may need to disclose your personal information to our reinsurers, insurance intermediaries, insurance reference bureau, credit reference agencies, business advisors, and those involved in claims handling process (including assessors and investigators) for the purpose of assisting in providing services and products, or for the purpose of litigation. Such parties may be in Australia or overseas, including in the United Kingdom, Germany and the United States of America, but these may vary from time to time.

Both Ensurance and the Insurers may disclose your personal information to people listed as co-insured on your insurance and to family members or agents authorised by you. Both Ensurance and the Insurers may also disclose your personal information to organisations which conduct customer service surveys on our behalf. If you do not provide your personal information or agree to our collection of your personal information as set out in this statement, we may not be able to issue insurance cover to you or to process any claim.

You have and have the opportunity to find out what personal information both Ensurance and the Insurers hold about you, and when necessary, correct any errors in this information, as set out in the Privacy Policies of both Ensurance and the Insurers. You also have the opportunity to complain to Ensurance and the Insurers if you believe there has been a breach of the Australian Privacy Principals in relation to your personal information. The Privacy Policies contain information about how you can make a complaint about a breach of privacy, and how that complaint will be dealt with.

For further information about the Privacy Policies or to access or correct your personal information, please contact the Compliance Manager, Ensurance, PO Box 483 Milsons Point NSW 1565. Telephone: 1300 794 079 or go to the Ensurance website www.ensuranceunderwriting.com.au for details of and for copies of the Privacy Policies.

Section 8: Agreement and Execution

This application is to be executed by the sole trader / Individual, each partner in a partnership and at least 2 directors if a company (unless the company has only one director).

I/WE agree that in completing and submitting this application, that I/we are making a declaration that the information provided in this application, that is attached to this application, or that is supplied with or in respect of this application, is true and a fair representation of the responses to the questions asked and for information sought under the application.
